The Democratic party here, as in other places, fights its op-ponents under the specious names of 'no party men," otherwise known as Independents Disorganizers. HOT WEATHER.

Origin of Heat Waves.

Now that the torrid season is practically over, one of the questions naturally suggested by the terrific heat pendents for Disorganization. waves which spasmodically fall upon us is: What is their origin? Are they due to local influences, or directly caused by fluctuations in the sun itself? Does that great source of light and heat remain uniform in its supplies, or are its forces subject to periodic ebb and flow? In short, is the sun a variable star? Startling as an affirmative answer to this last question might appear, the e would really be nothing strange in such a fact. The fixed stars are known to be gigantic suns, shining by their own light, and giving out, undoubtedly, enormous quantities of heat, although we are too distant to perceive it, and each is probably the centre of an attendant system of planets, just as our sun is. Yet among these far-off worlds we find many subject to periodic variations or brilliancy, appearing and disappear-ing with almost clock work regularity, or suddenly flashing up as new stars and as quickly fading away forever.

A STRIKING EXAMPLE. One of the most striking examples of this variability is the star Mira, or "the wonderful," in the constellation of The Whale. This singular body passes every year through a succession of changes so extreme that for five months it is absolutely invisible, although, when at its brightest, it equals in splender a Alamance has again determined to star of the second magnitude. Its send Col. Holt to the Senate from this greatest brilliancy, too, is not always the same. It does not increase or diis in the field battling for the success of minish by the same gradations, nor the Democratic party and his success in | are the successive intervals of its variathis as in other contests of his life, is tions constant. In fact, while the average period of its changes is about 331 days, the star is also subject to many minor irregularities. Another variable sun of short period is Algol in Perseus. At its brightest this star is commonly of the second magnitude, but in less than four hours it falls to one of of the fourth magnitude, and remains in that condition for twenty minutes. Then it begins to increase in brightness; and in three hours and a half more has regained its rank as a second magnitude star, and continues to hold it for two days and a half, when it again passes through it periodic changes. These are by no means iso-lated cases. The number of stars known to be variable is large; some of them pass through their round of variations in long and others in short periods, and all are apparently liable to fluctuations which conform to no fixed rules. THE SUN A VARIABLE STAR.

Several facts seem to indicate that happen if it disappeared altogether for four years, as Mira once did, or even if it went through such rapid variations of brilliancy as we see in Algol; but that the sun does vary can hardly be doubted. In some years its surface is found to be almost perfectly at rest. In others, its forces seem to be in an extraordinary state of activity, giving rise to enormous spots which undergo the most rapid and violent changes, and throwing out vast masses of incandescent gases to inconceivable distances. How these changes are produced still remains a mystery. On a supposition that the sun's heat was kept up by a constant stream of meteors falling into that body, it was natural to suppose that the variations in the amount of heat thrown off depended upon irregularities in the supply of its meteoric fuel. On the more generally accepted theory, however, that the temperature of the sun is sustained, not by enermous showers of meteors, but by the contraction of its own mass, these variations of heat and light are probably due to corresponding variations in the process of condensation. Judging from the outbreak and disappearanc of solar spots, it seems probable that the sun goes through these changes, on an average, every eleven years, though the time may extend to thirteen years, or be less than ten. Taking this period of eleven years, and remembering that Jupiter revolves around the sun in nearly the same period, some astronomers have sought to show that the greater of the solar variations were due to the action of that planet, while others have argued that the minor changes were caused by the earth and Venus. These views, however, seem to rest on no solid foundation.

PERIODS OF GREATEST HEAT. But whatever the cause, it may be safely assumed from the periodic prevalence and disappearance of the spots and from other indications, that the sun, like so many of the stars, is really variable, passing through its phases i a period of about eleven years, and that to its variations, and not to local influences, must be ascribed those extraordinary outbursts of heat which make life intolerable in Summer and are doubtless the origin of our excep-tionably mild Winters. It seems probable, too, that our heated terms are likely to be much more severe in the years of sun-spot abundance, than, in those when the solar disturbances are few, though on this point there is no conclusive evidence. The fearful heat of 1872, however, occurred near the sun-spot maximum, while the mild-1876 happened near the sun-spot mini-Future observations will no doubt throw much light on these obscure points, and it may even be that our knowledge of solar physics increases we shall be able to predict the ar-rival of these unusual heat-waves, and thus rob them of their terrors.

Sherman and Shupe's Plan to Capture the Workingmen. Correspondence of the News. RALEIGH, July 25.

of the State shows that the scheme concocted in New York between John Sherman, the bitterest Radical in the country, and one Walter N. Shupe, of the New York Advocate, is meeting with success. Shupe is a dainty, dan-dyish little fellow, who parts his hair in the middle, wears gold eye-glasses, and immaculate kids, while pretending to "Advocate" the cause and claims of the "horny-handed laboring man," in whom he has not the least interest except to make money out of them. A few months ago Shupe's paper was in its dying gasps—so near extinction that its groans were pitiable. But in this dire extremity, Shupe went to Washington. Two weeks later Secretary Sherman hurried over to New York, and held long consultations with the gold bond-holders and stock-gamblers. Shupe was seen in the conclave. He became an inseparable companion of Sherman, who would not have noticed him on the street but for his design to use him. Directly after this visit Shupe began to prosper and to boast. To one man he bragged that he had a "barrel full of gold" to draw on! The Advocate was several times advertised in a whole page (five full columns) of the New York Herald at a cost of probably $3,000 for each day! Great bundles of the paper were sent to every postoffice in the United States. To those who wouldn't pay 25 cents a year it was sent for nothing. Of course the 25 cents wouldn't pay for such a paper. It wouldn't pay half the cost of the bare white paper on which it is printed! The cost of fifty-two white sheets such as the News is printed on is about 40 cents a year; but the Advocate is twice as large, and must cost fully fifty-six cents a year for bare paper, without in-cluding the price of ink, type-setting, postage, rent, editors salaries, clerks, proof readers, pressmen, engineers, etc. etc. Why the annual postage is 12½ cents a copy—thus taking half the subscription price for one SMALL item! Does any intelligent man believe such a paper can be printed, edited, mailed, etc., for twelve cents a year? Well, then, why is it done? Who pays for it? Who is to gain by it? Careful estimates by old newspaper publishers in New York city show that the Advocate is printed at a clear loss of $3,000 a week; who is spending this amount of money? Who but John Sherman, and the New York Bond-Stock-Gamblers? They wish to get control of the humble laboring men, and use them for their own vile purposes. And the first step is to get the Advocate introduced into millions of families. Now, there is no doubt that a vigorous effort is being made to build up the Advocate in North Carolina with a view to carrying the floating vote, into John Sherman's Radical camp. If any members of the "National" or "Greenback" party doubts this statement, let him read the following from that able and straight-out Greenback paper, the was thought for a while would run, "Irish World," which has done so much but he withdrew from the field and for the Greenback cause : THE SPY IN THE CAMP.

"We charge that Walter H. Shupe is an unscrupulous adventurer who has accepted the nomination tendered him foisted himself upon the Reform Movement to rule or ruin it in the interest of

We charge that he stands publicly accused of having, as the authorized agent of John Sherman, audaciously attempted to seduce the Greenback Labor leaders, in Albany, to repudiate the Greenback movement in the State and Nation.

We charge that Mr. Shupe's secret conferences with Sherman, under the most charitable construction, were exceedingly improper in any man presame Mr. Shupe, after those conferences, come out in his paper, the Advecate, in laudation of Sherman's "financial relief" plan, we charge that no other rational interpretation can be put upon the man's action than that he attempted to transfer the hopes of the people from the Greenback party over to the arch enemy of that party for unworthy purposes. We charge that the "barrels of money" which so suddenly came into Shupe's hands, on the heels of those "conferences" with Sherman, look strangely suspicious.

We charge that Mr. Shupe is in collusion with stock gamblers, and he has lent the aid of his journal to parties who are engaged in a notoriously disreputable business.

We charge that this man Shupe is using Peter Cooper as a mask, in the hope that "the exalted character" of the venerable philanthropist will shield Sherman and his "discreet friends" and conceal the trickery set on foot from public view.

We charge that Mr. Shupe in publishing advertisements which he must have known to be swindles, and other advertisements which in their tendency were obscene, has furnished the evidence that he has no fixed principles in morals, and that his paper, the Advocate, is unfit for any Christian house-These charges, the greater part of them, were made in this Irish World under date of June 29. Here we are now in the middle of July. Yet Mr. Shupe has ventured to make no reply.

Two facts are evident to all with eyes in their heads to see. One is that the combined Money Power, with the Railroad Swindlers. Land Grabbers, and Mine Thieves, through the Republican Mine Thieves, through the Republican Ring at Washington, and through bribery of corrupt Congresses, have been plundering this people steadily for fifteen, years and they don't mean to stop now in their iniquity if they can help it. (They—through such men as John Sherman—are ready to do in New York in '78 what they did in New Orleans in '78. The sort of persons that leans in '76. The sort of persons that bribed Anderson and Weber to lie them into the Nation's Treasure Box would not scruple to bribe Shupe and Mrs. Jenks to maintain them in that place,)
And the plan is not a bad one at all. The plan, as now unfolded, as to bribe town in the United States-all the litter of this New York Advocate. Of course, thep must swallow the mental pabulum that he will think fit to fur-weekly papers in the country and run up a local Advocate instead in every Disaffection has weakened our own ranks, the selfish scramble for the sheriffalty has diminshed our Democratic strength; but all Independent Democratic candidates have now withdrawn, our lines are closed and our nominees, with other speakers, are making an aggressive warfare upon the unstable participants of the Republican party. The Potter Committee.

By Telegraph to the News. much to the surpise of all good Demo ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 25. Secretary Sherman resumed his testimony before the Potter Committee. the count, not to interfere with the duties of the board and hoped the proceedings would be conducted openly. The Republicans thought the Democrats were more active than they were mingling with the board and examining papers. In other respects the conduct of both parties was the same.

Sherman denied he or any of his associates met privately with any member of the Returning Board. Did not remember meeting Jas. E. Anderson except in a casual way. The witness denied the truth of Anderson's statement alleging a conversation between Sherman Weber and Anderson in which it was represented that Sherman said there was no necessity for Weber going back to his Parish, that he could be provided for elsewhere. Sherman was shown a letter alleged to have been written him by Weber and Anderson dated Nov. 20, 1876. He said he never heard of such a letter until it was published; furthermore said that the letter was insulting as it was suggestive of falsehood as they say we have carefully considered the argument advanced by you in our interview, and asking him to state in writings who they should look to for the fulfillment of the promises Sherman said he never suggested to these men employment or promise of reward for any service they might render in connection with the Returning Board or any other way. and anger. Witness never asked Mrs. Jenks to suppress any letter written by him; never held a conversation with her except in the presence of others.

Gen. Garfield testified that he did not know that any of the visitors suggested rules to the Returning Board for counting the votes, and denounced as a lie the statement that the Returning Board was advised to stretch its powers. There is less than a week to the election. Democrats be up and doing.

There were two thousand delegates present in the late Texas Democratic State Convention at Austin.

Ex Gov. H. M. Rector, of Arkansas, says it depends upon circumstances whether he will run for Governor of that State; but that, should he be a candidate, it will be on a Greenback p'atform. He thus expresses it : "In politics I am in all things past, pertaining to national affairs, a Democrat, indorsing, however, to the fullest extent, the principles and policies announced and advocated by what is known as the Greenback Party. And I have further to say, following my present convictions, that I will support no man for the Presidency in 1880 who does not stand on that sort of timber.'

Augustus W. Graham.

The vigor and ability displayed in the canvass by the gentleman whose name heads this article receives high commendation on all sides. As our readers are already aware, he is one of our nominees for the Senate from the district (entitled to two Senators) composed of the counties of Orange, Caswell and Person. It is a noble old district and its population has no superior in the State. Young but able, fearless, popular and energetic, Mr. Graham is proving by his canvass that he is worthy of such a constituency and worthy too of the bonored name he bears which has ever been dear to the hearts of the people of North Carolina. His election is assured.

To the Mountains.

On the heels of the announcement by the Western North Carolina Railroad of an extra fast train connecting with the North Carolina Railroad at Salisbury, comes a notice to the travelling public from Weddin and Bailey, stage contractors, that they had withdrawn Attorney at I aw, all their coaches and teams from the Western North Carolina Railroad at Henry, and transferred them to the head of the Spartanburg and Asheville DR. CEO. W. CRAHAM, Railroad. They have also requested all Railroad companies to discontinue the sale of tickets over the Western North Carolina Railroad so far as their line is concerned.

The public should not, however, be diverted from the route over the Western North Carolina Railroad by this "spurt." Weddin and Bailey do not own all the coaches and teams in Western North Carolina, and tourists to the mountains are not entirely dependent on their facilities for hauling pass ngers. Simultare us with their announcement of withdrawal. Brown and Verble, of Salisbury, announce that they have transferred the stock of their livery stable to the head of the Western North Carolina Railroad, and with a large outfit of buggies, carriages and coaches, they are prepared to connect. Asheville and Western North Carolina with all trains on the Western North Carolina Railroad at Henry Station, and that they guarantee to make the trip to Asheville three hours shorter than the old line.

The trains which leave Salisbury at midnight, Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, place their passengers into Asheville at eleven o'clock Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays, the quickest time on record, and returning, passengers leave Asheville after breakfast, by the line of Verble and Brown, and reach Salisbury by the extra fast train the same night, and also have the choice of the regular mail for the next day.

There never were such facilities offered for reaching the mountains of our State as are this year presented, there being four distinct routes open to the public. The practical closing of one would have been a misfortune, and it is a matter for congratulation that Brown their splendid facilities at the head of the Spartanburg Road, will be the bet-The Lerdist Revolution in Mexico ter prepared to accommodate the travel that shall seek that line.

The Rights of Passergers.

If railways were regulated and treated by the courts here as they are in England, there would not be so much and so causeful complaint of their mcnopoly and indifference to the rights of the traveling public. The same overbearing spirit displayed in this country used to manifest itself there; but so many decisions have been given against the corporations that they have been taught that railways are irintended for the accommodation of the people, not the people for the profit of the railways, as seems to be the opinion on this side the sev. Travelers in Great Charlotte Observer says: "The every- Britain will remember that a train never leaves a passenger behind for lack of room. If he be a coal-heaver with a third-class ticket, and there be no other place for him, he is put into a first-class compartment. Here, if a gers at Salisbury, who immediately train be crowded, passengers who can pelled either to hang on the platform or give up their journey, as they choose. The conductor gives himself no concern about them. Recently an Englishman sued the Great Western Railway for £2 15s. 6d., the amount of loss sustainreached Shrewsbury in time to catch an evening train for Ludlow. They dont elect any tained that there had been none in this case. All due diligence had been used, but the train had been retarded by the fact of the holiday and by wind and weather. The Judge held that the company had, by selling a ticket, entered into an implied agreement with its buyer to transport him to his destination in due time, and having failed to do so, it was responsible. He gave judgment for the amount with costs, and refused to entertain a motion for appeal. This is palpable justice as well as sound law. Americans are sometimes inclined to laugh at Britons for going to law to recover trifling amounts; but if they would more frequently do so themselves, they would less often be imposed upon by corporations. An Englishman stands stoutly and stubbornly by his rights, and consequently secures them, when an American allows his rights to be invaded with impunity.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

-The warm days once more appiess us.

-The most wholesome advice now given is "legister." -The United States has establish-a signal station at Charlotte. -Col. Walter L. Steele has begun his canvass, and will spend the present week in Robeson and Anson counties. -The receipts from drummers' licenses is sued by the State Treasurer during the month of June, were $1,400. -- The denizens of the Court House now amuse themselves by an idulgence in the most pleasing personalities. -The conference of the local min-Charlotte, at the Calvary Methodist Church yesterday morning, at 11 o'c'ock.

-A poet has appeared in this State who so completely takes the starch out of the "Sweet singer of Michigan," as to fill that warbler with anguish should see one of his productions.

-The election day draws ever nigher. Has every Democrat done his duly and reg stered? Let no one in this community fail to be able to answer in the affimative by election day, else he may consider himself as contributing to defeat his party.

Sunday School Pic-vic.
The Sabbath School of Mt. Vernon Baptist Church, near the Falls of Neuse, pic-nicked yesterday. The exercises were particularly pleasant, a number of addresses being delivered to the large crowd. Dr. Pritchard was one of the speakers.

For the Penitentiary. Sheriff A. J. Simms, of Wilsson county, yesterday consigned to the care of the Penitentiory authorities Fannie Brent and Blount Sharpe, both colored. convicted of Larceny, and sentenced to imprisonment for three years. These convicts are the first to come in for long time.

Henry Waddell, colored, some time since took unto himself a wife. Fickle in disposition, he soon tired of his mate, and forsaking her turned his devoted attention to a colored damsel, one Cora Freeman. His justly angered wife had these guilty parties before the Mayor. His Honor sent both to jail in default of bail for their appearance at the next term of criminal court.

Second Presbyterian Church.

This structure, whose erection will be begun at once, is located on North Blount, near Johnson street. It will be a hardsome building and a decided ornament to that portion of the city, al ready graced by so many elegant schools and private dwellings. The donations of brick have this far less only 13,000, instead of 100,000, as we erred in stating. The work is in charge of Messrs Kingsley and Ashley.

Tne City Market.

This institution is receiving some needed attention from the kalsominists and painters, and will be much more presentable as to its interior than some time. The market is now well kept, and ladies will find it pleasant to visit in the early morning. This is convenient, as it is fashionable to do one's marketing here. Keeper Fowler maintains both order and neatness, and his administration is creditable.

Dr. Grissoms Rejoinder. The address of Dr. Grissom, on "True and False Experts," read before the Association of American Insane Asylum Superintendents, at Washington, in May last, drewforth a snarling "open letter" from Dr. Wm. M. Hammond. In this an attack was made upon Dr. Grissom, to which that gentleman now replies in a manner remarkable for its controversion of Hammond's charges.

We learn that Neuse river is lower than it has been for years, and that at the "Falls of Neuse Paper Mills" for the first time for many years, they can 3 lbs., $12. not do full work for want of water. The corn crops are also sinering very much in many sections, and most of the grist mills on small streams are unable to grind, causing great inconvenience to

Geo. H. Snow, Esq., was able to be present at and participate in the disc ission yesterday, much to the relief of his many friends, who feared that his illness would be severe.

Col. J. T. Adams, of Osgood, N. C., and J. Mc. C. Ellington, of Apex, N. C. were in the city yesterday, and favored us with advertisements which will appear in to-morrows issue.

Sadly Disappointed.

The calculation of chances is a pleasing amusement, particularly to one of a sanguine disposition who thinks that the skies can but be bright and that misfortune and disaster may not follow all too swiftly. Such a one was Berry Williams, a native of that land of peach and honey, Nash county. Berry was betrothed to a fair one of his neighborhood, but being sadly inpecunious, was unable to secure the funds necessary to purchase a license for marriage. But while perhaps, considering the situation, and seeking some means to circumvent fate and the difficulty, an idea grew upon him. Near by was a farm ard well stocked with chickens. These once captured and sold, the proceeds would amply suffice to pay the much needed sum and yet leave a handsome balance.

Suftly the determined lover stole upon the fowls, and in the dead of night bore off in safety 63 of them. time lost he in affecting a sale. With pockets lined with ready cash, he rested not until the license was duly obtained. Seeking his adored he arranged that the ceremony should be performed that night. But now fate, who had so far stood nobly by our hero, aiding his every effort and crowning with success his wishes, at the last moment took flight and left him in the lurch. Information of his theft was in some way had, and just as the fair prize was almost in his grasp, a deputy sheriff, oblivious to the romance of the affair and and the faithfulness of the lover, rudely tore him away from his pleasure and consigned him to the county jail, withn an hour of the time for his marriage He now languishes in durance vile, and silently admonishes intending purchasers of marriage licenses to pay for the same in lawful cash.

Obituary. Died of chronic bronchitis, in Rolesville, Wake county, on the 10 inst. Mrs. Sarah Terrell, consort of John L Terrell, in the 64th year of her age Mrs. Terrell was a member of the Baptist Church in that village for 47 years, and sank upon the bosom of her Savior, dying as she had lived, full of hope and christ an resignation. During the whole of her protracted suffering she was never heard to murmur, and to the last expressed no fear of death, her soul was ever full of love and piety, which was exemplified in her devotion to the cause of Christ, her husband, her warm affection for her children, and in her kindness and charity to her numerous neighbors and friends. The Baptist Church at Rolesville will feel that it is bereft of one of its brightest ornaments. Society one of its esteemed and loved associates, and her family of its cherish ed star and fondest Sue.

Good News if True.

From ahe Farmer Manchaic. All over the Middle and Western sections of North Carolina are innumerable gold veins, of good size, and excellent yield, but which are so locked up in sulphurets, and quartz pyrites, that the precious metal is non-come at-able by the ordinary methods of extraction; while the expenses of shipping the ores to New York, or Swansea England, deters our citizens from attempting to utilize them. It happens. therefore, that many a poor farmer, scratching the backs of red clay ridges for a bare subsistence of bacon and corn bread from year to year, has under his feet rich deposits of yellow gold that would make him indepen-dent if some reasonably cheap method of extracting the sulphurets could be invented. Many times we have seen announcements that such methods have been discovered. But the following from the N. Y. Sun is the most promising up to date:

BILLIONS OF DOLLARS, IT IS SAID, CAN BE SAVED BY A NEW PROCESS, Experiments were tried at 55 Goerck street yesterday in reducing gold ore. The saving applies to gold and silver ores not hitherto capable of being worked by reverbeatory furnaces, the method in use in the great mining gions of the West. The ore, after it i crushed to powder, is roasted in reverberatory furnaces to drive off the sulphur with which the gold is If any person challenged or objected to shall be found not duly qualified, as connected, and from which it is with the greatest difficulty separated. To liberate sulphur from gold ore is the problem which the miner, the chemist, and the assayer have endeavored to solve since '49, and the nearest approach to the solution has been the reverberatory furnace. The proprie tors of these furnaces in Colorado, Navada, and Arizona have charged the miner $30 a ton to smelt his ores, be cause the cost of the reduction amount. ed to at least from $23 to $25 a ton. The natural result is that all sulphuretted ores that do not assay $30 to the ton are left untouched. When it was remembered that there is just about ten times as much sulphuretted or lean ore as of fat ore in the gold, it is seen that, when a process can be ob tained by which it will pay to handle the hitherto unremunerative ores, than billions of dollar can be saved. Such a process, it is asserted, has been invented and a ton of ore which formerly would not be looked at will pay the miner $10, and also the smelting works

$10, leaving $10 for the cost of reducing, by the old process being $30. For experimenting a furnace has been built at 55 Goerck street by the Brewster Reduction Company, and an experienced assayer from Colorado. Adolph Behrs, superintends the works. The roasting oven is nearly circular, welve feet in diameter, and has the advantage of working nearly automatically. In the ordinary reverberatory roasting furnaces there are two or three and even five terraced hearths, making the machine fifty feet long. Tho labor in the old furnaces is done by hand, consisting mostly of rabbling the powdered ore incessantly, an expenditure of great labor and time. The production is small, and the comoleteness of the roasting depends on he efforts of the workmen. The Brewster furnace has a flat, circular hearth, consisting of an iron shell, filled with five inches of fire clay. Its circumference underneath is with teeth and driven by a gear wheel, giving a rotary motion to the hearth. The hearth moves on a number of balls underneath. Through the centre of this hearth rises the main air pipe, through which the air for the combustion of the sulphur passes. This air tube extends from the blower outside through a pipe, and, passing up through the centre into four hollow stationary arms, six inches in diameter, and crossing at right angles, it passes into hollow teeth underneath the arms that discharge the air into the red-hot ore, revolving against them on the circular iron plute. The air passage through the pipes, the combustion of the sulphur in the ore is rapid and complete. The ore, which has been introduced like wheat into a hopper, runs ont in the same Twenty five tons of gold manner. ores, heavily sulphuretted, from four mines in North Carolina. were experimented with. They carried from 18 87 per cent. of sulphurets in the crude ore, and after going through the furnace for twenty minutes not a sign or smell of sulphur could be detected.
